Note from the Editor

It gives me immense pleasure to present herewith the Summer 2015 edition of the CLAWS Journal, putting together a bunch of articles on a diverse range of security-related subjects whilst concurrently deliberating upon the policy options available. The subject of strategic stability, a term coined during the Cold War, has not found universal definition, but the subject has perennially grabbed headlines in the case of South Asia, presenting a unique conundrum, given the nuclear triangle of India, China and Pakistan. As Prime Minister Narendra Modi's foreign policy appears focussed on rebuilding India's position and proximity with its South Asian neighbours, the Journal carries an analytical comment on the subject, and on Pakistan's relations with Afghanistan – whether there has been a "strategic shift," with the Ghani government taking over in Kabul.

The Journal has covered a range of subjects including joint military exercises and the theoretical and applied features of confidence-building joint manoeuvres. As the Modi government pursues its 'Act East' policy, the Journal presents a perspective on how northeast India shall ultimately be a strategic catalyst for the policy to come to fruition.

Further, cyber space is acknowledged as the fifth domain of human activity, the others being land, sea, air and outer space. As the internet has grown exponentially in its reach and scope, our dependence on cyber space for social, economic, governance, and security purposes has also grown exponentially. Unfettered access to information through a globally inter-connected internet empowers individuals and governments, but, at the same time, poses new challenges to the privacy of individuals and to the capabilities of governments and administrators of cyber space tasked with preventing its misuse, as has been argued at the conference on cyber security hosted in New Delhi earlier this year. An argument which forecasts potential scenarios of cyber attacks in the future and the preventive/remedial measures that need to be undertaken has been carried in this edition.

In addition to the above, the Journal carries an analysis on the need for a realistic approach to combat left wing extremism, the issue of programme management in defence capital acquisition, and the race for lunar endeavours in Asia. The Editorial Team hopes that this issue of the CLAWS Journal will contribute towards the overall conceptual and operational thinking regarding the issues elaborated above, thus, furthering enrichment and focus of the discourse. As always, I look forward to your feedback and comments.

Dr Monika Chansoria Managing Editor CLAWS Journal

Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS)

Membership Details

The Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS) is an autonomous 'think-tank' of the Indian Army. Besides organising conferences and seminars, CLAWS is also engaged in research work and has published several books, which have been very well received by the environment. CLAWS has its own website www. claws.in which showcases all activities of CLAWS since its inception.

Membership: CLAWS has now opened its membership to individuals, units and formation HQ. The rates of membership approved by the Board of Governors, headed by the VCOAS, are as under: - Individual.

Annual (Ordinary members) - Rs 1,000/ Life - Rs 5,000/-

• Units/Formations.

❖ Membership Charges - Rs 15,000/-

Categories of Membership: CLAWS has the following categories of membership:

- Life Members.
- Ordinary Members. The duration will be for the period from 01 April to 31 March of next year.
- Corporate Members. Representative members nominated by name and accepted by the Board of Governors from any organisation, institution or diplomatic mission based in India.
- Associate Members. Vice Chancellors of universities and Heads of Departments of Defence Studies; defence correspondents of Indian newspapers, magazines and news agencies, distinguished persons associated with the field of national security and related fields, research fellows and media persons.
 Approval of the Board of Governors would be required in all such cases.
- Temporary Members. Temporary membership may be granted for a period of up to 30 days by Director CLAWS, as per the guidelines laid down by the Executive Council.

Facilities: Members of CLAWS will be invited for all local seminars and conferences in Delhi and other parts of India. The following facilities are available at the CLAWS complex at Delhi Cantt:

- Journal. With this inaugural issue, CLAWS has commenced publication of its Journal. It is planned to have three to four issues annually. All members of CLAWS will receive a complimentary copy of the CLAWS Journal.
- Library. The number of books in the CLAWS library is approximately 1,000 at present. More books are being gradually acquired.
- Seminar-cum-Conference Room. It can accommodate approximately 50 to 60 persons and will be available to members at a nominal cost.
- Publications. In addition to Books, CLAWS is planning to publish Monographs, Research Papers, Policy Briefs and Issue Briefs also in the future. CLAWS publications will be made available to members at subsidised/reduced rates.

Application forms have been mailed to all formation HQ and may be downloaded from the website in the future. Applications, along with demand draft for the amount, may be sent to CLAWS at its mailing address.

For membership, please make all payments in favour of Centre for Land Warfare Studies payable in New Delhi.